"Should you be unable to use, in your workplace, any of the comprehensive materials in the Armed Robbery Training Manual , return your 5 th Edition CD for a full refund!"
"It is the expressed policy of Armed Robbery Training Associates, to keep our client names confidential, and not release them to any third party. Releases from that policy restriction, must be in writing and by mutual agreement."

All Armed Robbery Training Manuals are authored in Adobe Acrobat format (PDF). This format allows complete reproduction of the manual (depending on your licensed version and security keys), and preserves the original formatting and images.

Commercial Use: A commercial user's license allows the use of this material in one specific commercial location ONLY. Employees who work in this geographical location may use the material; reproduce it for training or general use in that geographical location. All employees in that specific location can use the material. The Armed Robbery Training Manual may not be reproduced, or redistributed to other work settings, even if they are part of the same company. Each business location and its group of employees must have their own license, and are subject to the same licensing agreements Government Use: Government agencies/employees/trainers must purchase a commercial users license for the Armed Robbery Training Manual. Government employees who work in a geographical location may use the material to train others in their geographical location. Government employees may reproduce the material or redistribute it to other employees in their specific work location only. Government employees may not reproduce the material or redistribute it to general members of a community with whom the government employee may have teaching or training responsibilities, under any conditions.
